2nd Graduation Ceremony

BRIEF HISTORY OF THE NAIROBI NATIONAL POLYTECHNIC

The Nairobi National Polytechnic derives its history as far back as the year 1951 when it started as “Modern High School”, catering predominantly for the Asian community residents in the neighbourhood. Though a secondary school, the curriculum offered at the time had a bias towards the inculcation of vocational skills, which encompassed Mechanical Engineering and Carpentry & Joinery. In 1953, the name of the school was changed to Technical High School and the Cambridge School Certificate Examination was first taken in 1954.

At independence and in the spirit of the Ominde Educational Commission of 1964, the school opened its doors to all races. The curriculum continued to emphasis on Technical Education and was expanded to include Plant Mechanical, Woodwork, Electrical and Motor Vehicle mechanics skills. Both ‘O’ and ‘A’ level classes were accommodated.

With the implementation of the Mackay report in 1984, all Technical High Schools in the country were converted to Technical Training Institutes to admit and equip high school leavers with vocational skills. Nairobi Technical Training Institute came into being and initially offered courses at artisan level. These courses comprised General Fitter, Welding and Fabrication, Carpentry and Joinery, Electrical Installation Motor Vehicle Mechanics and Business Studies.

After an appraisal of the Institute, Craft courses were introduced in 1988 and these included Mechanical Engineering, Electrical Installation, Motor Vehicle Mechanics, Science Laboratory Technology, Supplies Management and KATC. Enrolment into Carpentry and Joinery continued to dwindle and the course was eventually phased out and replaced with Garment Making in 1995.

Applied Biology was launched in 1995 as the first diploma level program. This marked the beginning of the introduction of a wide array of programs in various fields at Diploma level, the latest being Food and Beverage, Pharmacy and Information Communication Technology.

The insitute was upgraded to the status of a National Polytechnic in February 2025.

The Polytechnic is registered vide Certificate of Registration and legal order number 34 of 2025.

CHIEF GUEST MESSAGE

Dr. Esther Thaara Muoria
PS State Department for TVET

Graduation marks both an achievement earned through hard work and the beginning of new opportunities to contribute to Kenya's development. The competencies, skills and values you have acquired provide a foundation for productive employment, entrepreneurship and service to society. I also recognize the parents, guardians and trainers whose support has been instrumental throughout your training journey.

This second graduation as a national polytechnic is an important milestone for the institution. I acknowledge the Governing Council, Chief Principal, management, trainers and staff for their commitment to quality, relevance and skills-based training. The State Department for Technical, Vocational Education and Training (TVET) provides policy direction, expands access, promotes equity and strengthens quality in skills training. These responsibilities are central to developing the workforce Kenya requires for industrialization, job creation and global competitiveness. Government investment in capitation, modern workshop equipment and training infrastructure continues to support this objective.

Nairobi National Polytechnic's full transition to modular Competency-Based Education and Training (CBET) demonstrates its commitment to these reforms. The implementation of TVET CDACC-approved curricula, compliance with TVET Authority requirements and retooling of trainers reinforce the quality and credibility of its programs. Modular CBET provides flexible pathways for trainees to acquire, demonstrate and progressively build competencies, with a strong emphasis on practical training and workplace requirements.

The Polytechnic's implementation of dual training and Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL) further broadens these pathways. Dual training strengthens collaboration between institutions and employers, enabling trainees to develop competence through institutional and workplace training. RPL gives formal recognition to skills acquired through experience, opening opportunities for certification and further progression. Together, these reforms advance training FROM industry, WITH industry and FOR industry.

Sustaining this approach requires deliberate collaboration among institutional leadership, trainers and industry mentors. Strong partnerships should enable employers to help shape training, expose trainees to current technologies and workplace standards, and support the continuous professional development of trainers. The quality of these relationships will increasingly determine how effectively graduates transition into productive work.

The Polytechnic's production units provide another avenue for bringing industry into the training environment. Activities in metalwork and engineering, electrical and electronics, hospitality and value addition, ICT and printing, construction and agriculture offer opportunities for trainees to undertake real assignments and develop commercial awareness. Their primary contribution should be practical skills development, supported by income generation that strengthens institutional sustainability. Modernized infrastructure, including conference facilities, further supports training, innovation and collaboration.

Progress in solarization also supports the development of sustainable training environments. Greater use of solar energy can reduce operational costs while creating opportunities for practical training in green technologies. The State Department is working toward expanding solarization across TVET institutions and strengthening the competencies required for the green economy.

2nd Graduation Ceremony

CHIEF GUEST MESSAGE

The Polytechnic's focus on digital transformation, inclusion, research and innovation complements this direction. TVET institutions must continually align their programs with changing technologies and emerging opportunities, including those in digital services, renewable energy and the space sector. This requires an approach that develops technical competence alongside creativity, enterprise and the ability to adapt.

For the Class of 2026, the next step is to put your training to productive use. Apply your skills with integrity, remain open to new knowledge and recognize the opportunities to create solutions and enterprises within your communities and beyond. Your contribution will be measured through the quality of your work, the problems you solve and the value you create.

Congratulations to the Class of 2026. May the competencies you have earned open pathways to fulfilling careers, thriving enterprises and meaningful service to the nation.

COUNCIL CHAIR MESSAGE

Charles Kimwomi
Chairperson, Governing Council

On behalf of the Governing Council of the Nairobi National Polytechnic, I extend my heartfelt congratulations to the graduands for attaining this significant academic milestone. Today marks the culmination of your hard work, resilience, commitment, and perseverance. Throughout your academic journey, you have acquired knowledge, competencies, skills, and attitudes that will give you a competitive advantage in the global labour market.

Since its elevation to a National Polytechnic, the Nairobi National Polytechnic has continued to foster a dynamic environment for Competency-Based Education and Training (CBET), research, innovation, and capacity-building initiatives. These efforts have empowered both trainees and staff to excel in academic, technical, entrepreneurial, and professional pursuits.

Technical and Vocational Education and Training (TVET) is not only a gateway to promising careers but also a platform for acquiring entrepreneurial skills that promote personal and professional growth. In line with this commitment, the Polytechnic has undertaken various initiatives to expose trainees to practical opportunities through which they can acquire hands-on skills while generating income and promoting self-reliance.

Among these initiatives is our fully equipped driving school. The Polytechnic also produces household cleaning detergents and sanitizers and operates a dressmaking workshop that serves both internal and external customers. Furthermore, the Polytechnic has formally registered a motor vehicle garage, which is expected to be operational by December 2026. In addition, the institution is well endowed with conference and accommodation facilities that are available to both internal and external clients.

Across the academic departments, we appreciate the continued enhancement of training infrastructure, including workshops and laboratories in the Engineering, Health and Applied Sciences, and Institutional Management departments. These facilities provide trainees with opportunities to develop practical competencies that are responsive to the needs of industry and the changing labour market.

Environmental sustainability remains one of our key priorities. The Polytechnic continues to promote environmental conservation through the planting and nurturing of trees within the campus and in the surrounding community. These efforts demonstrate our commitment to creating a sustainable and environmentally responsible institution.

In pursuit of sustainable energy solutions, the Polytechnic has installed solar power systems, which have become an important source of energy for the institution. This initiative is expected to significantly reduce energy costs while contributing to Kenya's green development agenda and promoting the adoption of renewable energy.

In addition to these achievements, the Nairobi National Polytechnic has continued to strengthen partnerships and collaborations with local and international organizations as it seeks to enhance its local and global visibility. Notable among these partnerships is the collaboration with GIZ, which has supported the completion and equipping of the Automotive Mechatronics Workshop with cutting-edge technology. This investment has significantly enhanced the institution's capacity to provide industry-responsive technical training.

COUNCIL CHAIR MESSAGE

The Polytechnic also appreciates its collaboration with the Ministry of Environment, Climate Change and Forestry and GIZ in the area of Air Conditioning and Refrigeration training. This partnership has contributed to efforts aimed at protecting the ozone layer while enhancing the technical skills and competencies of our trainees.

The Nairobi National Polytechnic is ISO 9001:2015 certified and continues to demonstrate conformity with the specified Quality Management System requirements. The institution also participates in the Performance Contracting framework, under which its composite performance score has continued to improve over the years. These achievements reflect our commitment to quality service delivery, accountability, efficiency, and continuous improvement.

In a nutshell, the achievements we celebrate today are a reflection of the collective efforts of a united and dedicated team, comprising the Governing Council, Management, staff, trainees, and our development partners. We sincerely appreciate and commend each of you for your contribution towards the growth and development of The Nairobi National Polytechnic.

I also take this opportunity to thank the various industries, organizations, and institutions that continue to provide internship, mentorship, attachment, and employment opportunities to our trainees. Through these partnerships, our trainees gain valuable hands-on experience and practical skills that prepare them to successfully navigate the world of work.

To the Graduating Class of 2026, today you leave the Nairobi National Polytechnic with more than academic qualifications. You leave with knowledge, competencies, practical skills, values, and experiences that will enable you to make a meaningful contribution to society.

Go forth with confidence, courage, integrity, and determination. Embrace opportunities, create solutions, and use your skills to transform your lives, your communities, and the world around you. Wherever you go, remain proud ambassadors of the Nairobi National Polytechnic.

Once again, congratulations on this remarkable achievement. Go forth and bear fruits that will last.

2nd Graduation Ceremony

CHIEF PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

Dr. Glory K. Mutungi
Chief Principal

It gives me immense pleasure to welcome you all to the Second Graduation Ceremony of the Nairobi National Polytechnic.

Today is a day of celebration, a day we honour and celebrate the determination, resilience, commitment, and hard work of the over 2,987 graduands who have successfully fulfilled the academic requirements for the award of Diplomas and Certificates in various disciplines. In line with this year's graduation theme, "Equipped with Competencies to Transform the Future" The Nairobi National Polytechnic remains committed to unlocking the full potential of our trainees through Competency-Based Education and Training (CBET), industry mentorship, and strategic partnerships.

As we celebrate the achievements of our graduating class of 2026, I wish to recognize, acknowledge, and appreciate the Ministry of Education, whose support has been instrumental in strengthening our institution. The Ministry has supported our infrastructural development, facilitated the recruitment of additional trainers through the Public Service Commission, and supported the upskilling of trainers. Through Ministry-sponsored training programmes in modern pedagogical techniques, our trainers have acquired the skills and competencies required to effectively deliver CBET. These investments, together with numerous capacity-building workshops, have empowered our trainers to remain responsive to the changing needs of industry.

Through the intervention and support of the Ministry of Education, The Nairobi National Polytechnic is among the TVET institutions in Kenya that are training and equipping Kenyan youth with internationally recognized, Competency Based Skills aimed at enhancing global employment mobility, including opportunities in Australia. This has been made possible through our partnership with the Signet Institute of Australia, which has facilitated skills-based training in areas such as Community Services, Caregiving and Ageing Support, Wall and Floor Tiling, Bricklaying, Vehicle Mechanical Technology and Fabrication Engineering,

The Nairobi National Polytechnic continues to support the Government's efforts to ensure the effective implementation of Competency-Based Education and Training (CBET) by aligning the courses we offer with CBET principles and industry requirements. In this regard, the Polytechnic has signed Memoranda of Understanding (MOUs) with more than 40 Governmental and Non-Governmental Organizations. Notably, we have partnered with the Jua Kali umbrella organization. Through this our trainees are being mentored in welding and fabrication and actively participate in producing steel products for affordable housing projects in Ruiru, Kibra, and Ngong. These efforts show that trainees are applying classroom and workshop skills to real world challenges.

The Polytechnics collaborations have advanced with the United Nations Industrial Development Organization (UNIDO) coming on board to support the establishment of a Centre of Excellence in Carpentry, Welding, and Fabrication at this great institution. This initiative will enhance the polytechnics ability to deliver high-quality, industry-responsive training.

The Refrigeration and Air Conditioning Section has also made significant progress. Through support from GIZ, an expert from India was engaged in establishing of a Centre of Excellence in Refrigeration and Air Conditioning. This achievement has been made possible through our existing collaboration with the National Ozone Unit and the State Department of Environment and Climate Change. In line with these collaborations, the Polytechnic has established a Refrigeration Unit that uses carbon dioxide as a natural refrigerant, supporting global efforts towards sustainable and environmentally friendly cooling technologies. Since its accreditation as a Qualifications Awarding Body, The Nairobi National Polytechnic has witnessed remarkable growth. This growth includes, our participation in the development and alignment of modularized curricula to meet the changing demands of industry, as well as strengthening training partnerships with industry.

*Equipped with competencies
to transform the future.*

2nd Graduation Ceremony

CHIEF PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

One of our most recent achievements is the development of the Medical Laboratory Occupational Standard and Curriculum, which was undertaken in April 2026 at this institution in partnership with TVETA, KNQA, KMLTTB, KMTC, Sister Polytechnics, academia, and Industry stakeholders. This collaborative approach demonstrates our commitment to ensuring that the curricula we develop and deliver remain relevant, responsive, and aligned to the needs of both the labor market and society.

The ICT Department, through collaborations with WaziupEv from Germany, ENGIM from Italy, DTBi and VETA Kipawa from Tanzania, and Strathmore iLabAfrica, has successfully rolled out the VocalizeIoT programme at The Nairobi National Polytechnic. The programme has strengthened practical Internet of Things (IoT) skills, innovation, and technology-based learning, while enhancing the exposure of both trainers and trainees to emerging technologies and industry practices. It has also promoted interdisciplinary collaboration, international partnerships, and the development of practical solutions to real-world challenges. Going forward, IoT presents significant opportunities for the Polytechnic and other TVET institutions to integrate smart technologies across departments, support automation and innovation, and equip learners with future-ready skills that respond to the changing demands of industry. The Polytechnic is also registered and licensed by TVETA as a Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL) Assessment Centre.

To date, we have assessed over 355 candidates in trades including Masonry, Plumbing, Electrical Installation, Welding, Food and Beverage Production and Service, Housekeeping and Accommodation. These candidates include skilled workers operating within general Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises (MSMEs) and those working on Kenya's affordable housing construction sites. Through RPL, the skills and competencies that these workers have acquired through work experience are formally assessed and recognized, giving them an opportunity to obtain recognized qualifications. This achievement has been made possible through strong partnerships with the African Development Bank, the Tourism Fund, and other partners who share our conviction that skilled workers deserve formal recognition of their competencies and qualifications.

The Nairobi National Polytechnic firmly believes that education and training must extend beyond the classroom to address the pressing challenges confronting Kenya and the world. It is with this conviction that we continue to foster a dynamic environment for research, innovation, creativity, and capacity building. These initiatives have empowered both our trainees and staff to excel in scholarly, innovative, and creative pursuits. We are committed to nurturing a culture in which knowledge is not only acquired but also applied to solve practical problems, create opportunities, promote innovation, and contribute meaningfully to national development.

In conclusion, I wish to applaud our team of dedicated staff, whose commitment, professionalism, and hard work have been instrumental in the excellent performance and continued growth of The Nairobi National Polytechnic. Our staff have played a critical role in imparting knowledge, skills, and competencies, mentoring our trainees, supporting innovation, and ultimately moulding the future of our graduands. To our trainers and support staff, I sincerely thank you for your dedication and commitment to this noble responsibility.

To our graduands, Congratulations!

You have made us proud. Today marks the culmination of your hardwork, perseverance, resilience, and determination. You are leaving this institution equipped with knowledge, skills, and competencies that will enable you make a meaningful contribution to society. As you step into the next chapter of your lives, remember that graduation is not the end of learning; rather, it is the beginning of a new journey of continuous growth, innovation, and service. Go forth with confidence. Embrace opportunities, overcome challenges, uphold integrity, and use the knowledge and skills you have acquired to transform lives and the society in all aspects.

God bless The Nairobi National Polytechnic.
